

This aerial map illustrates the urban landscape of São Leopoldo, Brazil, and its proximity to Novo Hamburgo. The River of Belts (Rio dos Beltes) is a prominent feature, flowing through the city. The map highlights the dense residential areas, industrial zones, and green spaces. A yellow line marks the boundary between São Leopoldo and Novo Hamburgo. An inset map in the top right corner provides a detailed view of the neighborhoods within São Leopoldo, including Boa Vista, Anjo da Montanha, Scharlau, Santos, Compilho, São João, São José, Fátima, Santo Antônio, Campesina, São João Batista, Cristo Rei, Duque de Caxias, and Fazenda São Borja. The map is credited to Leticia Costa e Cláudia Maravilha.

This is an aerial photograph of São Leopoldo, Brazil, showing a significant flood event. The River of Boils, highlighted in blue, flows through the city, with large areas of urban land inundated with brown floodwater. A yellow line marks the boundary between Novo Hamburgo to the north and São Leopoldo. A red label 'BR-409' is visible on a road. The text 'Text' is present near the center of the image. The surrounding landscape includes dense urban development, green forested areas, and a large body of water in the upper right corner.

0 0,25 0,5 1 km

