INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON IP AND INNOVATION ECONOMICS

National Institute of Industrial Property (INPI) &
World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO)

Held on the occasion of the Annual Meeting of the WIPO Global Network of IP Chief Economists, hosted by Brazil in 2026

Venue: INPI Auditorium. Rua Mairink Veiga, 9, Centro - Rio de Janeiro.

PROGRAMME

10 NOVEMBER | MORNING

IP, Innovation and Development: Trends and Perspectives

[Live stream available: https://www.youtube.com/live/fmRZkv9bjyc]

08:30 Welcome coffee

09:00 Opening

Júlio César Moreira – President, INPI

Carsten Fink – Chief Economist, WIPO

Leonardo Ferreira de Oliveira – Deputy Secretary for Competitiveness and Regulatory Policy, Ministry of Development, Industry, Trade and Services

Tania Ribeiro – Executive Director, INPI

09:40 Opening Session | Innovation and development: measuring to transform

Two indices, one complete landscape: what the most important global and national indicators reveal about innovation and development in 2026.

Chair: Júlio Cesar Moreira, President, INPI

Global Innovation Index 2026: the innovation catch-up of middle-income economies

Carsten Fink – Chief Economist, WIPO

Comment:

Yusnieza Syarmila Yusoff – Director General, Intellectual Property Corporation of Malaysia (MyIPO)

Launch: Brazil Innovation and Development Index (IBID) 2026

Rodrigo Ventura – Chief Economist, INPI

Comments:

Thiago Marcelino – Director of Innovation, Paraná State Government

Rebeca Lima – Director of Digital Economy and Government Management, Piauí State Government

11:30 Break

11:45 Session 2 | IP and innovation economics in a regional context: challenges and perspectives in Latin America

Experts discuss perspectives, challenges and pathways for regional innovation and development.

Chair: Leopoldo Coutinho, General-Coordinator of International Affairs, INPI

Panellists:

Sergio Palomeque, Department of Management Sciences, Faculty of Economics and Management – University of the Republic, on behalf of the Dirección Nacional de la Propiedad Industrial (DNPI), Uruguay

Wilder Ramírez, Instituto Nacional de Defensa de la Competencia y de la Protección de la Propiedad Intelectual (INDECOPI), Peru

Alvaro Gonzales, Instituto Nacional de Propiedad Industrial (INAPI), Chile

Andrea Bermudez Huertas, Superintendencia de Industria y Comercio (SIC), Colombia

12:45 Lunch

10 NOVEMBER | AFTERNOON

IP, Innovation and Development: Trends and Perspectives

[Live stream available: https://www.youtube.com/live/ow-EY7EeTL0]*

14:15 Session 3 | IP Chief Economists Roundtable

IP economics in the age of AI: research frontiers, policy challenges and the road ahead.

Chair: Carsten Fink, Chief Economist, WIPO

Panellists:

Michael Falk – Chief Economist, IP Australia

Diego Santilli – Chief, Economic research and statistical analysis, Canadian Intellectual Property Office (CIPO)

Rich Corken – Interim Chief Analyst, United Kingdom Intellectual Property Office (UK IPO), United Kingdom

Hansueli Stamm – Chief Economist, Swiss Federal Institute of Intellectual Property (IGE/IPI)

15:30 Session 4 | Data and evidence on IP and innovation: from measurement to policy

How data and evidence on innovation ecosystems are transforming the way governments understand and address development challenges.

Chair: Ana Carolina Cagnoni, Board Member, ABPI

4.1 Innovation capabilities, technological potential, and productive complexity in emerging economies

Julio Raffo – Head of the Innovation Economics Section, DEDA, WIPO

4.2 The IBID as a basis for the strategic innovation pact in Paraná

Alan Alex Debus – State Innovation Coordinator, Sebrae PR

4.3 From measurement to foresight: economic scenarios and IP demand projections in Brazil

Luís Henrique Romani de Campos – Deputy Head of the Economic Analysis Division, CGEI, INPI

16:30 Break

17:00 Keynote

Chair: Rodrigo Ventura, Chief Economist, INPI

The Brazilian economy in global context: complexity, productive sophistication and IP as a strategic asset

Why more innovative economies generate higher income – and what economic complexity theory reveals about the role of IP in Brazil's development agenda?

Paulo Gala – Economist and Professor, FGV-SP

Comment: Julio Raffo – Head of the Innovation Economics Section, DEDA, WIPO

18:00 End of Day One

11 NOVEMBER | MORNING

Intangible Assets as a Pillar of the Strategic Agenda for Brazil and the Global South

[Live stream available: https://www.youtube.com/live/dZXVY-ESFPY]*

09:30 Session 5 | IP as a measurable economic asset

Beyond protection: IP as a driver of firm value, market performance and economic growth.

Chair: Bernard Ong, Assistant Chief Executive, Intellectual Property Office of Singapore (IPOS)

5.1 World Intangible Investment Highlights (WIIH) 2026: global trends and the Brazilian landscape

Carsten Fink – Chief Economist, WIPO
Rodrigo Ventura – Chief Economist, INPI

5.2 Launch: Monetisation of IP Assets in Brazil

Kátia Freitas – Coordinator of Market Intelligence, CGEI, INPI

5.3 Firm market valuation and IP assets: evidence from Singapore

Gerald Foong – Intellectual Property Office of Singapore (IPOS)

10:30 Break

11:00 Session 6 | Financing innovation

IP Finance, venture capital, and public funding: unlocking the value of intangible assets.

Chair: Karina Haidar Müller, Advisory Board Member, LES Brasil

6.1 Closing the financing gap: IP as collateral and strategic asset for SMEs – the Austrian experience

Renate Spring – Österreichisches Patentamt (Austrian Patent Office / ÖPA)

6.2 IP Finance: The WIPO Pilot Project

Luis Soriano Valdes – IP Finance and Valuation Expert, WIPO

6.3 From public investment to innovation output: the FAPs and the Brazilian R&D financing model

Carlos Arruda – Professor, Fundação Dom Cabral, and President of FAPEMIG

6.4 The Embrapii model: public-private co-investment in R&D and IP asset generation in Brazilian industry

Alvaro Toubes Prata – President of Embrapii

12:30 Lunch

11 NOVEMBER | AFTERNOON

Intangible Assets as a Pillar of the Strategic Agenda for Brazil and the Global South

[Live stream available: https://www.youtube.com/live/eJiWnCy9_a4]

13:30 Session 7 | From Biodiversity to Value: IP at the frontier of the green economy

The green economy is the next frontier of economic value. IP can protect, unlock the value of, and leverage innovation in biodiversity, climate change, and the energy transition.

Chair: Alexandre Dantas Rodrigues, Director of Patents (DIRPA), INPI

7.1 Bioeconomy and IP: protecting and unlocking the value of biodiversity

Irene Von Der Weid – Coordinator of IP and Innovation Intelligence, CGEI, INPI

7.2 Green tech startups and IP: how patents drive growth and financing in the ecological transition

Emilie Gallois – Institut National de la Propriété Industrielle (INPI France)

7.3 Protecting Amazonian genetic heritage: the role of IP in regional biodiversity governance

Sinésio Campos – Vice-President, Amazonian Parliament

14:30 Session 8 | The Economics of Trademarks: value, reputation, and market positioning

Trademarks build reputation, generate revenue, and anticipate economic cycles. The data tell that story.

Chair: Alexandre Lopes Lourenço, Director of Trademarks (DIRMA), INPI

8.1 Launch: Strategic Intelligence on Innovation - Trademarks

Silvia Souza – Head of the IP and Innovation Studies Division, CGEI, INPI

8.2 The economic value of trademarks: INTA's global perspective

Renata Lisboa – International Trademark Association (INTA)

8.3 Platform trademark governance and value

Jyothi Gali – IP Australia

15:30 Break

16:00 Keynote

Chair: Tania Ribeiro, Executive Director, INPI

Protecting to develop: IP as a bridge between the Global South and the future

How IP can reduce inequalities between countries and drive development: a legal and economic synthesis for the Global South.

Maristela Basso – PhD in Law and Professor, USP

Comment: Leonardo Ferreira de Oliveira – Deputy Secretary for Competitiveness and Regulatory Policy, Ministry of Development, Industry, Trade and Services

17:00 Closing

Carsten Fink – Chief Economist, WIPO

Júlio César Moreira – President, INPI